Rockford, Illinois (September 2, 2005) - Victims of Hurricane Katrina are attempting to recover from one of the worst natural disasters in U.S. history.

The estimated damage to the gulf coast area is said to be 25 billion dollars. American Red Cross volunteers have been deployed to the hardest hit areas of Katrina's devastation supplying thousands of victims left homeless with critical basic necessities.

By making a financial gift to Hurricane 2005 Relief, the Red Cross can provide shelter, food, clothing, counseling and other assistance to those in need.

Beginning September 2, 2005, Ranger Enterprises, Inc., which owns 48 Road Ranger convenience store and travel plaza locations throughout Illinois, Southern Wisconsin, Northwestern Indiana, Missouri and Iowa, will be accepting donations at every Road Ranger location on behalf of the American Red Cross, with 100% of the donations going to the victims in the gulf coast. To help the victims of this disaster, please donate anything and everything you can.
